CARE OF AGED IS TOPIC FOR WELFARE UNIT

"There is a tremendous field for elderly people in community service," Dr. E. Preston Sharp, of the Bureau of Community Work, Harrisburg, pointed out Monday night in a talk to the Adams County Welfare council in the Public Assistance office on North Washington street.

"The retired man or woman has much free time, and has a need to fill it. At the same time there is so much that needs to be done that cannot be done by the average individual who is too busy with his daily work to have time for the many community activities that should be done, but are not. This is one of the problems that must be solved. It is a contribution that can be made by those who can work a few hours a day for the good of their community either in organizational or other duties.

"We are in a changing world in regard to age. People are living longer. We are beginning to reap the fruits of advances in medicine. Persons aged 90 and 95 are no longer rarities.

Cites Problems
"The problem of care for aged who need assistance has been accelerated by the fact that hospitals are so crowded they can't care for chronic patients. They try to avoid long term care in order to have room for the emergency cases.

"The housing problem is another factor that has increased the pressure for better facilities for care of aged who need it. Once there was space in the home for elderly relatives. Now the families are crowded into homes that provide no extra space. And I have a suspicion which cannot be backed up by any statistics that people in general are not so concerned today with the care of their aged relatives as they were, say 15 years ago.

"There is a real question of the advisability of having aged persons in the same house as small children. It is harmful to the aged unless they have some place to get away from the boundless energies of the young."

DR. F. K. STAMM GIVES SERMON MONDAY NIGHT

The second of the preaching mission services was conducted in St. Paul's Lutheran church, Littlestown Monday evening with the sermon by the Rev. Dr. Frederick Keller Stamm, pastor of the First Congregational church, Chicago, Ill., who spoke on "The Character of Jesus." "Whenever individual men and nations make their own plans and fail to take God into consideration, chaos results. The battle of Christianity is difficult today, because of too many man-made plans," the speaker said in the introduction of his message.

Dr. Stamm discussed the character of Jesus. He pointed out that, "Jesus was a fisher of men. He was ever trying to put the lost things back into their place. The lost coin was of no use on the floor. Jesus put it back in to the purse. The lost sheep was of no value until it was sought by the shepherd and restored into the fold. The lost son was of no value in the far country until he was restored to the family circle. Every one of us can be fishers of men by searching for misplaced humanity and restoring it to the fold."

The second characteristic of Jesus was that of a teacher and the third characteristic the speaker emphasized was the healing ministry of Jesus which was evidenced "in his healing them of all known diseases," he asserted. The fourth characteristic discussed was "Jesus as a shepherd." "His heart was full of compassion for the people who were like sheep without a shepherd. It is here where Jesus revealed his sympathetic nature. Jesus as a shepherd has ever been leading and seeking His sheep. Down through the ages (Continued on page 3)

SAYS FINANCES HUGE PROBLEM OF HOSPITALS

"The largest problem faced by non-profit general hospitals today is that of finances," Walter R. Doud, administrator at the Warner hospital, told the Rotary club Monday evening at its meeting in the YWCA.

"Hospitals have rarely been able to charge enough for their services to meet the cost of those services," Doud pointed out. "In years past the deficits were made up by large donations on the part of those with wealth. Today we have a condition in which the cost of hospital operation is rapidly increasing while at the same time taxes drain away wealth so rapidly that the day of great fortunes is vanishing and correspondingly the number of large bequests for hospitals is decreasing steadily.

"And the hospital cannot charge too highly for its services because then it reaches a point where the patients can no longer pay and all the hospital obtains is bad debts.

Change Is Inevitable
"Eventually there must be an accounting; hospitals cannot continue with their backs to the financial wall.

"I feel that a plan that has increased our hospital system to where it is the envy of all other countries is worth preserving. I do not think the answer is government control. That has been tried in other countries and has not proven successful.

"Hospitalization plans such as the Blue Cross seem to be an answer (Continued on Page 6)

SWOPE TO HEAD ANNUAL DRIVE BY RED CROSS

Attorney Donald M. Swope has accepted the chairmanship of the 1948 Red Cross fund drive, Mrs. LeRoy H. Winebrenner, chairman of the Adams County Red Cross, announced today.

Swope, a member of the law firm of Swope, Brown and Swope, Baltimore street, one-time head of the Junior Chamber of Commerce here, and a U. S. Army officer in World War II, began his duties immediately.

While naming the drive chairman, the Red Cross did not immediately announce the quota for the new drive. That quota will be announced by Max Spray, director of public information of the Eastern area, American Red Cross, in his address January 28 at the annual meeting of the Red Cross to be held at the YWCA.

Expect $15,000 Quota
While no official confirmation could be obtained, it was expected the new quota will be in the neighborhood of $15,000 in line with increased quotas throughout the U. S. Because of the tremendous demands made last year on the Red Cross disaster relief fund which went several million dollars over the amount budgeted for such aid, this year's goal is higher. National Red Cross officials have previously announced.

Setting up of the various committees which annually carry out the door-to-door canvass for the Red Cross during March will begin in the near future, the new drive chairman announced.

Prior to the campaign each year, the Red Cross selects volunteer workers in each community under district chairmen who make complete canvasses of their sections for funds. Materials for the drive have to be distributed to the various volunteer canvassers prior to the drive and arrangements made for reporting into the county office funds as they are secured by the solicitors.

GREEK PRESS PRESENTS TONE OF U.S. NOTE

By L. S. CHAKALES
Athens, Jan. 20 (AP)—The Royalist newspaper Vradyni, which often expresses the views of the dominant (Royalist) party, criticized the American aid mission today for its attitude toward the Greek government.

It said it sounded as if they were written for "the Japanese or a country inhabited by gangsters."

In recent talks with Foreign Minister Constantin Tsaldaris, Dwight Griswold, head of the U. S. mission, has declared the United States will not tolerate a "dictatorial solution" to Greece's problem.

Vradyni said it doubted that the mission's notes had been approved in Washington. He added the hope the threat of the guerrillas the north soon would be ended soon can forget our friendly relations and return to where we belong.

From 1936 until 1941 Greece was ruled by Dictator John Metaxas, who died during the Italian invasion. Some Greek politicians are now to have discussed the possibility of a semi-dictatorship under which Greece's parliament would be dissolved.

Plan Spring Offensive
A high government official declared today the guerrillas in the north are regrouping for a general spring offensive and are recruiting new power for training in foreign countries.

Sources at Salonika reported a heavy movement of military vehicles and Greek soldiers toward the Greek frontier. The vehicles carried military and medical supplies and foreign medical officers, the informants said.

Greeks back from the front areas near the frontier said temporary hospitals had been set up for the wounded guerrillas and that foreign doctors and nurses are attending them.

The United States, meanwhile, in move to bolster the rapidly failing Greek drachma, has released $100,000 in American-held Greek gold.

PAULEY WANTS NAME CLEARED BY COMMITTEE

By DONALD SANDERS

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—Edwin W. Pauley demanded today that Senate investigators either prove he used inside government information for personal gain or acknowledge publicly that he made money in commodities through sheer business ability.

He insisted that the full record of his admittedly profitable market dealings "is a story of profit honestly and honorably made, legally, ethically and in the American tradition."

Pauley, a special assistant to Secretary of the Army Royall, declared "I have never at any time in my life used any government position, or any 'inside information' for my personal financial gain."

He made the assertions in a letter to Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the Senate appropriations committee.

The letter and the full records of Pauley's commodity transactions for the past three years were made public by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), chairman of a subcommittee which bridges named to inquire into speculations by government employees.

Wants Vindication

Pauley, a California oil man and former Democratic National treasurer, has announced that he intends to wind up his temporary job with the department of the army sometime this month and to resign as reparations adviser to Secretary of State Marshall.

He has acknowledged that he made a profit of $392,703 in the last three years, but has said he liquidated most of his holding since taking the army post.

He told Bridges in the 2,000-word letter, dated Jan. 3: "If your committee finds that I have used 'inside information' it will clearly have the duty of seeing to it that I am exposed. Since no such finding is possible—because no such impropriety ever occurred—I trust that the committee will likewise feel the obligation to see that I am vindicated."

Poor Buildings Are Costly To Farmers

Faulty construction of farm buildings is high on the list of causes of farm fires, according to the fire protection association which is spearheading the annual drive for fire-safety on the farm, in homes and on the industrial scene. Millions of dollars in farm property are destroyed by fire every year, statistics reveal.

Agricultural building experts recommend the use of fireproof building materials in the construction of farm buildings. Various building products are available which will render the vulnerable parts of a farm structure highly resistant to flames. Among the effective materials are asbestos cement products. Suitable for a variety of purposes in farm structures, they are resistant to termites and rodents, as well as being fireproof.

Gasoline and other fuels also are high among the principal farm fire hazards, fire prevention authorities report. Properly stored and handled, all fuels can be used with reasonable safety on the farm. But, a little carelessness may send the farm buildings up in smoke.

The farm protection authorities recommend that underground tanks, of the type used in commercial filling stations, be used whenever large quantities of gasoline are to be stored on the farm. Small amounts of gasoline or other fuels may be handled in galvanized steel cans. It is also considered safe to store fuel in 50-gallon drums, providing the drums are kept at a reasonable distance from farm buildings.

REJECT KUTER FOR CAB POST

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—The Senate armed forces committee today rejected a personal plea from President Truman to allow Maj. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter to become chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board and retain his rank and pay as an Air Force general.

The committee refused to approve necessary special legislation in the case. This confirmed an earlier unanimous vote by the same committee against the legislation.

Two Votes Taken

Senator Bridges (R-N. H.) told reporters there were two votes. He said the first was on a proposed compromise by Senator Tydings (D-Md.) which would have allowed General Kuter to serve for one year as CAB head with the committee sending a letter to Mr. Truman saying it disapproved of the policy of naming military officers to civilian jobs.

Bridges said that only Tydings and Senators Kilgore (D-W. Va.), Hill (D-Ala.) and Russell (D-Ga.) voted for this compromise. Russell was not present but gave Tydings a proxy to cast.

Bridges said the second vote was "to reaffirm the committee's previous action in unanimously rejecting the bill."

On this, Bridges said Tydings, Kilgore and Hill all "voted present and so abstained from voting." Bridges said the committee still was in closed session.

However, the authorities said they would question the young Hindu. He was seized by members of Gandhi's congregation. Police said an army-type grenade was found in the man's pocket but that he had made no attempt to use it.

All Star Cage Game Wednesday Evening

An All-Star basketball game, proceeds from which will go toward feeding the playoff champions at a banquet, will be held by the Adams County Independent cage league Wednesday evening at East Berlin.

The teams will be comprised of two players each from the league teams. Players from the teams standing one, three, five and seven will oppose those from teams ranking two, four, six and eight. Dick Allison, Arendtsville, will pilot the former team and Jack Taylor will coach the other group.

At 7:30 o'clock the Sheppard Diesel quintet of Hanover will meet the East Berlin VFW dribblers.

ABANDON TAX PLAN

SHS CAGERS TO MEET SQUIRES AWAY TONIGHT

Tonight Coach George Porney will lead his Gettysburg high school basketball team against Delone Catholic high on the McSherrystown floor.

The Squires have topped their last three games in succession including surprise victory over Harrisburg Catholic last Tuesday. Always a tough opponent for the Maroons on their home court, the Delone lads are expected to give the locals a stiff contest.

Top performers for the Squires this year have been Leonard, Murren and Prendergast. Staub and Conrad round out the team which has won four of seven tilts for Coach Alex Jell.

The Maroons will be gunning for their seventh victory and third straight. Coach Porney will undoubtedly use his regular lineup of Bushman and Westerdahl, forwards; Jondelson, center, and Fair and Isenhardt, guards.

The Jayvees team will clash in the preliminary game. One of the largest crowds of the season is expected to attend and local fans are advised to get early if they hope to secure seats.

Carlisle Here Friday
The Maroons will return to their own court Friday night to battle the much-improved Carlisle team in a South Penn contest. Carlisle gave Chambersburg a very busy evening before bowing on the Trojans' court last Tuesday 40-28 and then walked off Spittsburgh 54-30 on Friday. Chambersburg's triumph over Hanover on the latter's floor Friday night practically assures the Trojans of the first half league title. The Trojans are expected to win easily from Waynesboro, Mechanicsburg and Shippsburg in the remaining first half games. Only Shippsburg will be met away from home.

The Maroons' chance of tying for first place honors hinges on a surprise beating of Chambersburg by one of the three mentioned teams and a clean sweep for the locals in their games with Carlisle, Hanover and Hershey, a rather difficult assignment.

Sports Roundup

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—Hottest tip: Don Faurot (Missouri) for the Navy football coaching job and Wallace Wade (Duke) for Southeastern conference commissioner. . . Don't ask who the tipsters are—they deny it anyway. . . But the guy who phoned (at his own expense) about Faurot thinks it's really hot because "Don was in Tom Hamilton's navy program during the war; he coached the Iowa Seahawks and Jacksonville navy teams and he's a close friend of Hamilton." . . . And nobody so far has denied the report. . . The same informant explains that Hamilton, as athletic director, has been given two years to get the new civilian coaching setup organized, extending his normal tour of duty by a year. . . As for Wade, Mr. "Reliable Source" didn't offer any supporting evidence. The F.C. might or might not elect a commissioner next month. . . And some guys in that territory think there's no need for a commissioner under the N.C.A.A. Sanitary code.

VFW Cagers Win In Last Seconds

The Gettysburg VFW came from behind in the last 55 seconds of play Monday night to win its first victory in six starts 58 to 57 from a previously undefeated Union Bridge, Md., five.

Manager David A. Hughes' locals took an early lead in the first stanza but dropped behind by half time. With less than a minute to play the hometowners were trailing by three points. Grover Ridler, with 55 seconds to go, sent a long shot looping through the basket. Johnny Roth, with three seconds to go, intercepted a toss in by the Cement Mixer squad of the Union Bridge Veterans of Foreign Wars, and tossed the ball to Dick Runkle who swished it through the basket as the battle ended, giving Gettysburg the contest.

The game was played on the Recreation Center floor in the Hotel Gettysburg annex.

Yanks Add Three To Pitching Staff

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—Three New York Yankee pitching prospects—Fred Bradley, Bill Wight and Clarence Marshall—have agreed to terms offered by the club for the 1948 season.

The Yanks announced the receipt of the hurlers' contracts yesterday, thus bringing to 17 the number of players in the fold for the coming season.

Wight, Bradley and Marshall toiled for Kansas City's pennant winning American Association Blues last year, accounting for 40 of the club's victories.

The six members who cast dissenting votes agreed the committee's stand was justified but thought the American ski, Bob-sled and figure and speed skating teams should be allowed to participate since they are already on the scene.

Brundage sailed for Europe Saturday night and is scheduled to meet the International Olympic committee in St. Moritz January 27 for a "showdown." He will formally disclose the outcome of the poll at that time to back an ultimatum for the I.O.C. to over-ride the Swiss organizing committee's decision to accept the A.H.A. team as the official entry.

The U. S. committee charges that the A.H.A. is "commercially tinged." Tommy Lockhart of the New York Madison Square Garden is president of the A.H.A. league and Walter Brown of the Boston arena is another league official.

The American committee has sponsored a hockey team made up from A.A.U. and N.C.A.A. players. The International Ice Hockey Federation ousted the A.A.U. from its membership and accepted the A.H.A. in its place. The Swiss committee followed up by recognizing the A.H.A. over protests of the American committee.

Says Durocher Will Take 1948 Pennant
New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—The veteran Burt Shotton, who says he'll never manage again, predicts Leo Durocher will clinch the National League pennant for Brooklyn in July "if he has the breaks I had."

The white-haired Bartow, Fla., resident heaped praise on his managerial successor at a dinner last night at which the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America honored Shotton for his service to the sport.

"I know nobody will ever manage Brooklyn better than Durocher," Shotton told the gathering of writers and diamond dignitaries. "If he has the breaks I had he'll win the pennant in July."

Shotton led Brooklyn to the National League pennant last year after he was named to replace Durocher, who had been suspended for the season by Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler.

MOUNTAINEERS BEATEN 50-46

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—In a wild exhibition of basketball, Catholic University's Cardinals defeated Mount St. Mary's of Emmitsburg, 50-46 Monday night.

It was CU's seventh win in ten Mason-Dixon Conference games, while the loss was the second in four conference games for the Mounts.

The losers dominated play during the first half, and left the floor leading 24-23, but the Cards came back to pile up a 35-25 lead with 7 minutes left.

Then with 3 minutes to go, a field goal by Ed Flanagan, of the Mounts tied the score at 45 all, however, a field goal and a foul shot by Gene Szklarz and a two-pointer by Chuck Dudley put the game on ice for the Cards.

On Saturday the Mountaineers play Gettysburg at Gettysburg.

Chapter 27

The Carters flew back to Maine unescorted by the F.B.I. which, to Pam at least, seemed a good sign, an augury that their cloud of suspicion had been lifted. But Brent just smiled dubiously.

"Fielding knows that the only way out of a commercial plane is down and that the air lines don't provide their passengers with parachutes. Ten to one someone will meet us in Bangor."

And someone did.

He was a more robust edition of Fielding and when he saw Pam he was embarrassed and apologetic. "I have orders to put you on the bus for Machias," he explained.

Pam groaned softly. "Oooo, a bus ride—that's all I need!"

During the last half of the flight her face had taken on a greenish tinge that was not just a reflection of her feathered hat. The trip had not been rough and Brent's face mirrored his anxiety. "Gosh Pam, I never knew you to get air sick before."

"Just nerves I guess," she smiled wanly at the F.B.I. man.

"Look here," he said, as she had hoped, "It's seventy-five miles to Machias and the bus will be crowded and stuffy. I'll get an official car and drive you up. Like to visit Cove Point anyway?"

While they slipped coffee in the airport restaurant he phoned for a car and in fifteen minutes they were on their way. In two hours Ellsworth, Gouldsboro, Steuben and Harrington slipped past, then the familiar sight of hemlocks, white frame houses and crimson patches of blue berries that spread lavishly toward the ocean, told the Carters that they were coming into Cove Point once more. Pam sighed.

"Thirty hours away from here and it seems like a year! Can it be that I'm becoming a 'Down-east'?"

They stopped before the Widow Adams' house where Mary Norbrook lived to pick up Zarathustra. Pam went in alone. As she cuddled the big Persian she stared at the young school teacher quizzically.

"Mary, how long have you known Luisa Marel?"

"Just since she's been here," Mary answered slowly. "And I've only really talked to her once before we met at your clam bake. She was showing me some of her paintings."

Pam felt a twinge of dismay. "Then she really does paint?"

"Oh yes. She seems to belong to the primitive or impressionistic school—not the sort of art that appeals to me—but she showed me a water color of Clearview that was really quite good."

Pam sat down on the nearest chair. "I guess she wasn't bluffing."

Mary stared. "I don't think I understand."

"Never mind. It isn't up to me to worry about it anyway now that the federal people have taken over."

Pam looked hard at Mary's honest open face. "I'm surprised you're speaking to me, Mary, doesn't Cove Point know that the Carters are being investigated by the F.B.I.?"

Mary's reply came quickly. It was a genuine heart-warming smile and did more to cheer Pam than the fact that they were still not under arrest.

"We New Englanders are slow to make up our minds Pam. I think you'll find that Cove Pointers already have taken a liking to you and Brent. They won't believe anything bad of you until you are proved guilty."

To Pam's horrified surprise a lump grew in her throat and nervous tears brimmed her eyes. She looked away to hide them but Mary was already extending a fresh cologne-scented handkerchief.

"You're tired," she sympathized, "and no wonder. What you people need is a few days of undisturbed rest. I'll speak to Adam."

"Adam? Adam Marston? What can he do?"

Mary looked as though she had said more than she intended; her face grew quite pink. "He is your friend, believe me. That's all I can tell you."

Pam saw more than she was meant to. "And you're in love with him?"

Mary laughed. "I shan't say another word. Now go along with you."

In Cove Point they picked up the jeep left for safe-keeping in Mr. Crabtree's stable, and three letters at the post office. They all bore the return addresses of prominent publishers and Brent was overjoyed.

"Hate to get your hopes up, Pam, but they can't all be bad. If they just say they're interested I'll be more than satisfied."

Brent had done his best to conceal his worry over their predicament but with wifely instinct Pam had guessed that he was much more upset and puzzled than he admitted. In New York the F.B.I. men had quizzed him thoroughly. They seemed to be harping on Brent's European duty as an Army officer. The questions regarding his work and acquaintances during the Italian occupation were particularly sharp.

It wasn't until they had almost completed their queries that he realized they were checking his answers against his service record. But they wouldn't enlighten him at all.

Now, he grinned at her conspiratorially and they both were so full of anticipation that the realization that the F.B.I. car had picked up Constable Binny and was trailing only 10 yards behind them, didn't dampen their keen hopes for the letters. At the cottage Brent halted Jezebel with a flourish and leaped out to unlock the front door.

As he threw it open Pam saw his figure stiffen. She looked beyond him to the disordered jumble that had once been a neat attractive living room. When he turned, his face had gone white and his voice was icy.

"You seem to have taken advantage of our absence, Binny."

But Constable Binny had slipped his revolver from its holster and was staring at the main house. "What's become of Marston?" he said worriedly.

"You haven't been looking too well, Kliddo, but I suppose that's natural with all this hullabaloo. Maybe we ought to start scouting around for some other place to live."

"Nothing doing! This is free and that's important."

He laughed at her asperity but sobered quickly. It wasn't like Pam not to enjoy being in the thick of things. Until now she had seemed to thrive on excitement. What they had saved in rent they had made up for in mental anguish, he decided, and wondered if paying no rent was worth it.

They sat in silence until Johnson emerged.

"Your house seems to be pretty much of a shambles," he told them. "But it's mostly disorder, not much breakage. Guess they didn't find the jewels."

"Jewels!" Pam laughed and spread her fingers wide. "The only jewelry I own is on me—wedding, engagement and bar pin."

Johnson, fumbling in the car pocket for a fingerprint kit looked up and laughed heartily. "That's enough for anyone."

Pam stared at Brent, amazed. "I always suspected I was a dazzling wit but I've never had such a commonplace remark evoke mirth before. What do you suppose is the matter with him?"

Brent shrugged, then pointed to Clearview. "Hey, something is wrong!"

Binny and the F.B.I. man were helping Adam Marston down the steps. He walked with difficulty and as the trio approached, the Carters saw that there were angry red welts on his wrists and face. His expression

"We received word shortly before you landed at Bangor."

"Yet you escorted us to Cove Point," Brent's tone was dubious.

"Just a precaution," Johnson smiled. "Besides I wanted to visit the scene of the crime."

Brent motioned to the disordered cottage behind them. "Looks like you walked in on one."

Johnson nodded. "You should be glad this happened in one way—since you were in our custody at the time it's definite proof that someone else is responsible for this whole affair." His steady eyes went beyond the Carters to Binny and the other federal man who were entering the main house.

"You two wait here, I'm going to examine this cottage."

He drew a gun from his shoulder holster and left them.

Pam realized suddenly that her legs would not hold her up another two minutes. She climbed weakly into the back of the jeep and sat down. Brent moved in beside her and lit cigarettes for both of them.

Brent reached for her hand then changed his mind and kissed her instead.

Littlestown

Littlestown.—Charles A. Snyder, Manchester, N. H., spent the week-end with his wife at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dern, South Queen street, and visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Snyder, near town. Mrs. Snyder was called to Littlestown last week when her parents were injured in an automobile accident early Wednesday evening.

J. Marker Dern, Richmond, Va., spent the week-end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dern, South Queen street.

Miss Emily Badders was the leader of the Youth Fellowship of Redeemer's Reformed church on Sunday night. Miss Lorraine Myers read the scripture lesson and the leader offered prayer and introduced the topic which was, "How to Gain Success?" There were two guests, Miss Mary K. Crouse and Miss Dolores Hawk, college students home was a startling mixture of sheepishness and rage. Binny called out to Pam—

"Think you could make up some hot coffee, Miz Carter?"

"I can do better than that," Pam dashed into the cottage and up to the medicine chest for the emergency bottle of brandy. When she came down, Marston was sitting on the sofa and the others were trying to restore some semblance of order to the room. As he returned the glass to Pam, he smiled thinly. A flush was rising to his forehead.

"Thanks, I needed that badly."

"I think we could all stand some baked beans and coffee," she suggested and moved toward the kitchen, but Marston didn't seem to be listening.

"I certainly was a damned fool," he muttered.

"What happened?" Brent prompted.

"Someone knocked me out and gagged and tied me up, then stowed me in a closet," Marston told them. "When I came to I could hear him searching the place, but I never got a glimpse of him."

"You think it was just one person?"

"Yes. What's more I didn't hear a car or anything before it happened. No clue or warning. The guy we're after is no fumbling amateur."

Binny interrupted him to announce that he was driving back to Cove Point to get some fingerprint pictures expected from Machias and Marston, as though he were in charge, nodded approval then held up his finger.

"When you come back, Constable, bring Luisa Marel with you. That girl is going to tell us a mighty interesting story and I think the Carters are entitled to hear it."

Negro Law School Battle Continues

Oklahoma City, Jan. 20 (AP)—The legal battle of a 23-year-old Negro woman to enroll in the University of Oklahoma Law school today was headed back to the United States Supreme Court, which only last week directed the state to establish equal law school facilities for Negroes and whites.

A Negro school of law established here in a surprise move yesterday by the Oklahoma state regents for ing to death the fliers, who were captured after wandering in the hills for three months after their Catalina flying boat had crashed.

The airmen included. Donald H. Douglas, AMM 3 C, Mobile, Ala.; Thomas J. McGowan, AMM 3 C, Lawrence, Mass.; Joseph N. Vendetti, Seaman 1 C, Quincy, Mass., and Joseph H. Yates, AOM 3 C, Pottstown, Pa.

higher education was branded by Negro leaders as a "Jim Crow law school."

At a mass meeting here attended by some 600 Negroes, James E. Stewart, president of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the Association's attorneys will go back to the Supreme Court to contend that "some unit of the state government is in contempt" of the court's ruling.

Mrs. Ada Lois Sipuel Fisher, the Negro seeking admission to the university's law school, will not attempt to enroll in the newly created law school but will stand on her application for enrollment at the state university, a spokesman said.

CAPTURE FIFTH BANK BANDIT IN $100,000 THEFT

Chicago, Jan. 20 (AP)—James F. Smith, a 24 year old parolee from Pennsylvania, identified by FBI agents as one of the five men who on January 9 staged a $100,000 daylight robbery of a New Orleans bank, was in jail today awaiting a hearing Friday on extradition proceedings.

George McSwain, Chicago FBI chief, said that Smith, whom agents seized yesterday asleep in a downtown hotel, admitted his part in the robbery. The agents found $17,776 in a valise under Smith's bed and, McSwain said, he told them that was the amount left of the $220,000 he received as his part in the holdup of the Hibernia National bank's mid-city branch.

Suspect in Slaying

While Smith awaited the extradition hearing on Friday, the FBI said that he would be questioned in connection with the slaying of a Philadelphia policeman on January 30, 1947. Philadelphia authorities held a murder warrant for a James F. Smith.

McSwain said that Smith had served a sentence in the Huntington, Pa., reformatory on charges of armed robbery in 1946 and was paroled from the Eastern Pennsylvania penitentiary on armed robbery charges.

The FBI chief said that Smith's capture followed information given by a Memphis taxicab driver who had driven Smith to Chicago last Friday. The taxicab driver, McSwain said, became suspicious after the passenger he had driven here from Memphis gave him $500.

Laughs At Arraignment

FBI agents searched hotels for two days for Smith, who had registered at an undisclosed hotel as "Joe Carey."

Smith, neatly dressed, told the agents he had spent more than $4,000 in high living, including a week-end at Chicago's night spots, since the robbery. McSwain said he identified his companions in the bank robbery as Tom and George Ricketts, Harry Todd, and a man known only as "Johnny." Three were captured shortly after the robbery.

Smith laughed during his arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Edwin K. Walker and went through the pantomime of counting out bills when his bond was set at $50,000.

to the problem, both for the hospital and the potential patient. Under such plans the hospital can receive payment for its services and the patient is not faced with a bill which he may have difficulty in paying.

Following his talk Doud presented a motion picture, produced by the American Medical Association, depicting the operation of a hospital.

Needs Support

Showing the many services, from kitchen and cleaning force, through maintenance forces, doctors, nurses, technicians and the like the picture pointed out that a hospital has about two full time employees for every patient. Showing the expensive machinery that must be purchased if the hospital is to keep abreast of current advances in medicine and surgery, the motion picture made the point that all of the equipment and services of a hospital must be paid for and that it is up to the people of the community to support the hospital up to the standards they demand of it. Without the support of the public the hospital cannot advance or even maintain the standards it has already attained.

"The hospital is a sign of civilization and advance from barbarity," Doud claimed. "The modern hospital is a sign of mankind's progress toward the ideal of being one's brothers' keeper."

"Hospitals, in the sense in which we use the term today, were recorded as early as 437 B. C. but the modern hospital got its impetus from Christianity. The church established many hospitals and one hospital, established by the Catholic church in Paris in 669 A. D. is still operating."

Cites Many Changes

"There have been many changes in hospitalization. In the medieval period the doctors did everything possible to keep wounds clean, even using wine as a cleanser. Then came a period in which the doctors spoke of 'admirable pus' and felt that it helped a wound to become infected. Now complete cleanliness has been rediscovered as one of the greatest needs."

"Florence Nightingale was the first hospital administrator, as well as being a great nurse. She had a

LOUISIANA IS VOTING TODAY

New Orleans, Jan. 20 (AP)—Louisiana Democrats expressed their choice for governor today in the Democratic primary that has become one of the state's most puzzling political contests of recent years.

Seeking the office are former governors Sam Jones and Earl K. Long, U. S. Rep. James H. Morrison and Appeals Judge Robert P. Kennon.

Veteran political observers have shown little agreement in ideas on the relative strength of the candidates, probable survivors for a second primary February 17, and potential lineup of support in the runoff by today's losers. Democratic nomination is tantamount to election in Louisiana.

A weather bureau prediction of chill rains for most of predominantly rural Louisiana indicated a smaller than normal turnout. About 900,000 voters, a record, are officially registered.

The campaign, which began slowly and vaguely, moved to a fast finish on the spur of a charge in Congress last week by Rep. James D. Eastland (D-La.) that Long had evaded $100,000 in income taxes. Long, a brother of the late Senator Huey P. Long, countered yesterday with an offer to make details of his income public if Jones would do the same. Jones came back last night agreeing to publish his income figures if Long would authorize the commissioner of Internal Revenue to permit inspection of records pertaining to Earl.

Two Slayings Bring Demand For Probe

Boonville, Mo., Jan. 20 (AP)—Two strangulation slayings in cells at the state training school for boys brought a demand today for an investigation by Missouri's governor and attorney general.

Senator Ralph E. Erdwin introduced a resolution in the state Senate demanding that Governor Phil M. Donnelly and Attorney General J. E. Taylor investigate what he described as "chaotic conditions" at the correction institution.

Roland Barton, 15-year-old inmate, was found strangled in his segregation cell Sunday night. A coroner's jury held that he died at the hands of two cellmates, J. D. Hicks, 16, and Robert Oswald, 14.

Last August 31 Donald Threlkeld, 14, was choked to death in his cell. Jerry Owens, 17-year-old inmate, was charged with first degree murder and is awaiting trial.

genius for organization and started a school where she trained other nurses. The number of hospitals in the U. S. increased from 149 in 1843 to over 6,700 in 1938, and the number has increased since. By 1950 there should be 2,000,000 beds available in hospitals in the U. S. for patients.

"Never before has the influence of hospitals been so widespread or have hospitals ever been utilized by so many as they are today."

"The post of hospital administrator, that is, the training of men and women for such posts, is a relatively recent development. In the 1930s the first courses in hospital administration were given and the University of Chicago opened the first graduate school for hospital administrators," Doud said.

The speaker was introduced by Mares Sherman, vice president of the club. Fifty members and guests attended. The president, Dr. C. Harold Johnson presided.

SOME CHANGES HAVE BEEN MADE IN MR. TRUMAN

By HAL BOYLE

Washington, (AP)—There've been some changes made in Harry S. Truman by nearly three years in the White House.

The changes have come chiefly from the exercise of authority in perhaps the most powerful elective office in the world—the presidency of the United States.

Responsibility either makes or breaks a man. He grows with the use of authority or it becomes a weapon to tear him apart. It also perhaps does both in many instances—builds up his personality at the same time it takes a slow but killing toll of his nerves. That is the history of the presidency.

Adds To Stature

There is no sign yet, however, that the inheritance of high office has done anything to Harry Truman but add to his self-confidence and political stature.

This is on the testimony of a number of tough-minded men, members of the White House correspondents' corps, whose job is perhaps the most grueling in the newspaper field. They aren't men necessarily who would vote for him—many won't—but they all seem to like and respect him.

I went to a Truman press conference the other day, and saw the President for the first time in almost a year.

We gathered in an ante room just before the conference hour. There was a young girl in the group and she was slightly nervous. Most people are when they wait to see a president for the first time.

Answers Rapidly

On the walls were hung three Indian peace pipes in a glass case, a diploma from "the Missouri college of hunting and fishing," and several framed political cartoons, some kidding the President, some praising him. One showed a large 8-ball with a sign before it: "Harry doesn't live here any more."

The door opened and the regular White House reporters filed rapidly into the conference room, where Truman sat awaiting them.

He rose, made a brief announcement and waited for the questions. They came thick and fast—like balls in a table tennis game. In about ten minutes Truman answered eighteen impromptu questions, smiling and without reference to prepared notes or inquiries of aides around him.

The questions ranged from atomic energy to foreign affairs, from the history of White House architecture to veterans' allowances. The President either gave a detailed answer immediately, replied there was no comment or said that a formal announcement would be forthcoming soon. But there were no pauses, no hesitation. He knew exactly what he wanted to say.

Amazing Vitality

The President was crisply dressed, about halfway between Wall street and Broadway, in a gray suit with a subdued red check, blue shirt, brown shoes and wore a blue handkerchief in his breast pocket. His cheeks were pink, his vitality amazing for a man soon to be 64 years old.

As the conference ended I remarked to a veteran White House correspondent on Truman's self-assurance.

"I've covered all the presidents since Coolidge," he said. "And this one is the most informal and friendly. He really likes people—although he is actually rather a shy man himself. He still whips out his answers as fast as ever—but he doesn't go off half-cocked now. When he first came here he sometimes got into jams by snapping back answers so quickly. But he is much more sure of himself."

No Doubts Show

The uneasy young lady was led up then and met Truman, who greeted her with a grin and a handshake. She came away saying: "I feel all fluttery inside."

Truman may feel that way himself as he heads into a year of President Troxell called to their attention that yearly dues are now payable. The new siren is now being installed it was reported and before many weeks it will be available for use.

Three members of the state congress of the P.T.A. were present on Wednesday evening for the regular meeting held by the Emmitsburg high school P.T.A. The meeting was opened by President Weldon Shank with group singing of "America." Mrs. Andrew Eyster, treasurer, reported 60 paid members. Mrs. Gower, Sharpburg, the first representative of the state congress to speak, gave an interesting explanation of the membership of the state and national P.T.A. and its benefits. Another speaker, Mrs. Austin Gardner, of Hagerstown, president of the Washington county congress, spoke on "What I Think of P.T.A." Mrs. Long, the third and last speaker, chose "How To Become a Member of the National P.T.A. as her subject. Mr. Paffenberger and James Hayes were appointed by the president as a committee to study the by-laws and draw up those to be submitted to the state organization for approval. A speaker for the next regular meeting is to be secured by Mrs. Andrew Eyster and Mrs. J. Harry Scott. A motion was presented by Mrs. D. L. Beagle that a vote be made as to whether or not Emmitsburg should join the state and national organization. Only four members out of the group opposed joining both the state and national P.T.A. The group also discussed a meeting of a number of the parents with the board of county commissioners.

GOP LIKELY TO REJECT BARUCH PLAN ON TAXES

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—Republican tax cutting plans reached the decision stage today.

Speaker Martin (R.-Mass.) called the House GOP steering committee to an afternoon (2 p. m. EST) session to shape party policy on the red hot domestic issue.

The was every advance indication the committee would:

1. Ignore the urging of Bernard M. Baruch to put off tax cutting for two years.

2. Reject flatly President Truman's request for a $40 "cost of living" tax cut for everyone with an offsetting revival of the war-time excess profits levy on corporations.

To Push Knutson Bill
3. Throw its weight instead behind

a trimmed down version of the Knutson bill.

Chairman Knutson (R.-Minn.) of the tax-writing ways and means committee told newsmen he would carry into the meeting a demand that his $5,600,000,000 bill be adopted as the GOP tax slashing goal for 1948.

But high Republicans who would not allow the use of their names predicted the Knutson plan would be trimmed down—possibly to an overall cut of $4,000,000,000—with chief emphasis on lower rates for taxpayers in the low brackets.

Favor Community Property
There was general agreement among GOP leaders that present exemptions should be boosted from $500 to $600 and that the principle of community property taxation—allowing husbands and wives to split the family income for tax purposes—to be applied uniformly throughout the nation.

But there was some objection to Knutson's proposal for percentage cuts ranging from 39 per cent at the bottom to 10.5 for those with high-bracket incomes. The best guess was

VFW Launches UMT Drive Through State

Harrisburg, Jan. 20 (AP)—A vigorous campaign to secure enactment by Congress of universal military training was set in motion today by the Pennsylvania Department of Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The campaign was announced by Frank C. Hilton, department commander, after a meeting here over the week-end of the VFW's council of administration.

"Those who would rob this country of its priceless democratic form of government are already hard at work once more in their efforts to strip this nation of its defenses," Hilton asserted, adding that the department's legislative committee will meet in Washington to discuss ways and means of obtaining passage of the training measure.

WOULD CURB LIQUOR

Pittsburgh, Jan. 20 (AP)—Two resolutions aimed at curbing use of liquor will come before delegates to the 35th national convention of the Anti-Saloon League of America tonight at final sessions. One proposal would outlaw all liquor advertisements in newspapers, magazines and on the radio. The other would take a definite stand against universal military training unless the army bans sale of alcoholic beverages on and near training centers.

that these percentages would be trimmed all along the scale.

Any bill faintly similar to the Knutson measure is expected to draw a veto, but Republicans are hopeful they can attract enough Democratic support to override a Presidential objection.

Besides the tax issue, today's steering committee decision also was looked to as a guide for the Congressional budget committee called into session Thursday to look over Mr. Truman's $39,700,000,000 budget for the fiscal year starting July 1. Republicans are calling for cuts ranging up to $5,000,000,000.

Some Republican leaders have charged that Philadelphia hotels are failing to live up to their promise to provide 8,000 rooms for the convention and are increasing prices over the rates cited at the Kansas City meeting last April at which Philadelphia was picked as the convention city.

Joseph E. Mears, president of the Philadelphia Hotel association, said in a statement "a total of approximately 4,700 rooms in Philadelphia hotels has thus far been pledged to the Republican convention arrangements committee."

EIGHT SLAIN IN RIOTS IN IRAQ

Baghdad, Iraq, Jan. 20 (AP)—Eight persons were killed today in six hours of rioting started by youthful foes of the new British-Iraq alliance. Policemen with armored cars and machineguns finally restored order around noon. The Iraqi army also was alerted.

Hundreds were arrested. About 40 policemen and 100 civilians were injured. The dead were two policemen, two inspectors and four civilians.

Gunfire was exchanged heavily in the main centers of Baghdad and considerable property damage resulted. Official sources asserted that "subversive hands" exploited feeling against the treaty, signed last week, to foment the disturbances. The council of ministers had the situation under study.

More than 6,000 youths were among the demonstrators. Demonstrations by mobs of students broke out yesterday and continued today. One mob hurled stones through windows of the United States information service offices, but no attempt to enter was reported. Police foiled efforts of the mob to reach the British embassy.

Today's attempt by police to block crowds of marching, shouting students failed under sheer weight of numbers, and the students resisted with sticks and stones. Police resorted to firearms to halt the mobs, and shots were returned from the ranks of the demonstrators.

Hotelmen Promise GOP 7,500 Rooms

Philadelphia, Jan. 20 (AP)—A spokesman for the Philadelphia Hotel association said between 7,500 and 8,000 hotel rooms would be available for the June Republican National convention here but failed to answer charges that rates in some establishments would be double those quoted earlier.

Some Republican leaders have charged that Philadelphia hotels are failing to live up to their promise to provide 8,000 rooms for the convention and are increasing prices over the rates cited at the Kansas City meeting last April at which Philadelphia was picked as the convention city.

Joseph E. Mears, president of the Philadelphia Hotel association, said in a statement "a total of approximately 4,700 rooms in Philadelphia hotels has thus far been pledged to the Republican convention arrangements committee."

LIQUOR SALES DROP

Harrisburg, Jan. 20 (AP)—Sales of alcoholic beverages in Pennsylvania during 1947 totaled $208,369,000, a drop of nearly $26,000,000 under 1946. This included a state tax of $18,696,371 however, which compared with a tax of only $15,991,058 on the record business of $238,300,000 in 1946.

WOMAN RESIGNS

that Gettysburg has a "splendid opportunity to expand the program because of the college and seminary affiliation. Through these organizations, students and faculty, much good can be accomplished. I believe the opportunities here are greater than they are in York."

School Officials Help
Mrs. Ruch said York had received "some cooperation from some churches but that the greater cooperation came from schools."

"We organized a speakers' bureau by contacting 200 prospective speakers. Today we have 120 speakers on call at all times. They have done an excellent job," she said.

She also explained that York raises between $1,200 and $2,000 each year through $2 memberships and larger donations from prominent Yorkers. She is opposed to fund-raising campaigns during Brotherhood Week explaining that "our funds just naturally flow in throughout the year."

The Gettysburg unit, and the public, were invited to the York Brotherhood program to be held in the William Penn high school annex on February 17 at 7:30 o'clock. At least six automobiles will be available for those Gettysburgians who wish to attend. Local people who plan to go to York for the affair are urged to call Gettysburg 271-X and reservations will be made for their transportation.

Next Meeting Feb. 16
Dr. Norman E. Richardson presided at the meeting. Others present included: Mr. Sherman, Dr. Coleman, Clemen Siels, Rev. Floyd A. Carroll, Shelton Ackley, Mrs. Sundemeyer, Mrs. Guyon Buehler, Dr. Keefeaver, Walter Klotzli and Mr. Roy.

The next meeting will be held February 16 at 8 p. m. in the YWCA.

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength—and started, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm, flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.
